

Last night, I voted to support the Lewis Amendment, blocking the takeover of U.S. ports by a company owned by the United Arab Emirates.

Our action was overwhelmingly bipartisan and forms effective action to return common sense to the ownership and operation of American ports.

The amendment was attached to the Supplemental Appropriations bill that is on the fast track to enactment. It has little to no opposition in the House.